

2026 RevoFit® Upper Extremity Adjustable Prosthetic Socket System
Manufacturer's Suggested Retail Price (MSRP)

The patented RevoFit® system allows the user to control compression and expansion of their custom prosthetic socket. This technology is made effective when incorporated into the design, fabrication and fitting of a custom prosthesis.

By operating the Click® Reel, the user can improve the fit of their prosthesis throughout the day and over the life of the device. This function reduces the need for socket modifications or replacements, sock usage, and pad inserts. Clinicians using RevoFit® in their patient's sockets consistently report better patient outcomes and a corresponding decrease of secondary complications, as well as fewer office appointments.

RevoFit® allows patients to self-adjust their socket for better fit, stabilization of limb fluid volume, increased functionality and faster donning and doffing. For example, patients can increase compression as their limb decreases in volume or when activities demand a tighter fit. They can also release the dial to allow for device expansion if their limb has increased in size due to fluid or weight gain.

For optimal outcome, some patient situations require multiple adjustment zones that can be controlled in unison or independently.

The suggested MSRP has been determined by aggregating cost associated with:

1. Component cost of RevoFit® Kit(s)
2. Additional socket design time to determine adjustable socket area(s)
3. Additional socket fabrication time to integrate kit and create adjustable area(s)
4. Additional material cost (pad, glue, composite adhesive, foam)
